SYMPOSIUM DESTINATION

Wrocław is the capital of Lower Silesia Region. According to official population figures for June 2009, its population is 632.240, making it the fourth largest city in Poland. Over the centuries the city has been part of Poland, Bohemia, Austria, Prussia and Germany. Wrocław, despite losses in 2nd World War (70% buildings), preserved many buildings in original state, rest was renovated or rebuilt after the War. The most popular are: gothic city hall at Rynek, gothic Archcathedral at Ostrów Tumski, baroque buildings of University of Wrocław with Aula Leopoldina, neogothic main train station and modernistic Hala Stulecia (ger. Jahrhunderthalle, designed by Max Berg).

Wrocław is the third largest educational centre of Poland, with 135.000 students in 20 colleges which employ some 7.400 staff. Wrocław has easy access to the A4 motorway, which allows for quick connection with Upper Silesia, Kraków and finally Ukraine to the east and Dresden and Berlin to the west. Now an A8 motorway (Wrocław ring road) and S8 express road are being built, which will connect Wrocław and Warsaw. The city is served by Wrocław International Airport. Public transport in Wrocław consists of many lines of buses and over 20 lines of trams.

INVITATION TO WROCLAW

We cordially invite you to participate in the

41st International Symposium on Essential Oils (ISEO 2010)

The symposium will be held from September 5-8, 2010 at the Wrocław University of Technology Congress Centre in Wrocław, Poland.

This meeting will address all aspects of essential oils and related natural products ranging from breeding, cultivation, analysis, biogenesis and chemistry to biological activity and utilization.

The symposium was co-organized by the Wrocław University of Technology, Wrocław University of Environmental and Life Sciences and Wrocław University College of Physiotherapy.

We look forward to meet you in Wrocław in September 2010.

TOPICS

Essential oils – production (plant cultivation and genetic modification), isolation and analysis

Components of essential oils – separation, structure determination, biosynthesis and biodegradation (biotransformation)

Essential oils and their components – biological activity, application in fragrance industry, pharmacy, food production and agriculture (plant protection)

Chirality – synthesis of optically active compounds, resolution of racemic mixture, influence of chirality on biological activity, chiral chromatography as a method of essential oils analysis and authentication.

SUBMISSION OF ABSTRACTS

You are invited to submit contributions for oral and poster presentations related to the topics above. Please provide your one page abstract exclusively via symposium web site www.iseo2010.wsf.wroc.pl
A sample abstract is presented on this web site.
